

Free business crucial documents for HR professionals

According to the Psychologically Healthy Workplace Program, one third of U.S. employees are chronically overworked. With ever changing employment laws, a tight economy, and announcements like the DOL's that this year will see a further increase in FLSA enforcement, it's easy to understand why HR professionals are among them.

To help reduce some of the stress, XpertHR is providing complementary access to dozens of business critical policies, forms, "how to" guides, training materials, and more to help HR professionals manage their daily employment challenges. These include How to Classify an Employee Under the FLSA, Employee Attendance - Supervisor Briefing, Employee Privacy Policy and How to Implement and Manage an Employee Wellness Program.
